PORT HURON REC TO HELP WITH HARVEY COMMUNITY CENTER

The City of Port Huron opened a new chapter this past spring by taking ownership of the Eleger G. Harvey Reinvestment Center from the Port Huron Housing Commission, embracing a new opportunity for community growth.

This Center, renamed to Harvey Community Center and located at 3013 24th St. in Port Huron, boasts a large gathering space with the capacity to hold medium-sized events, classes and meetings. It features a commercial-sized kitchen, space set aside for the City Manager's satellite office, restrooms and a parking lot. Currently, the Center houses meetings for the Southside Neighborhood Improvement Authority (NIA) and is the home to New Beginnings Theater and St. Clair County Organizing for Regional Equity (SCCORE).

The Recreation Department is expanding recreational offerings to include exciting classes and events at this new location. Family-friendly movie nights, dance and theater classes are just the start to programming at this location, which started in November. Please see page 5 for free dance and theater programs instructed by New Beginnings Theater.

The Port Huron Recreation Department is excited to continue to offer this space to City residents and organizations for community use. For those looking to rent the facility after the new year, please contact the Recreation Department at 810.984.9760 to review our rental policy and sign a contract. Rentals are available to City of Port Huron residents for a discounted price on weekdays and select weekends. Pricing starts at $150 and varies depending on how many hours you wish to rent. Maximum number of people allowed in the building for a facility rental is 120.
